The Wild Man of Borneo is no More.

CRAB ORCHARD, May 6.—As capricious April wept herself away in the flowery lap of May, the gentle spirit of this grandest of all equines left the wicked's den, and if Brother Barnes is right, he has crossed over the river and is now resting with Stonewall Jackson's charger under the trees in the happy land! A gentler, grander, nobler horse never adorned turf, field or farm! A long and illustrious pedigree on both the paternal and maternal lines, and like Bonaparte, reflecting more glory upon his ancestry than he could inherit from them. Crit Davis, Jr., Crit Davis, Sr., and General Thompson, of Mercer. What a noble, royal lineage! And on the maternal line all the Abdallah princesses that were mingled in the unique pedigree of Hon. W. H. Miller's buggy mare, which Matt Portman, Judge Saulley and Turfman Cook pronounced unrivaled. "The Wild Man of Borneo" was half brother of "Wild Zingarelle," the grandest picture of a horse standing in an imposing attitude, looking far away, I ever saw. My beautiful and peerless iron gray! A Gallatin Talbot was the nearest approach to the Wild Man of Borneo I ever saw and he was said by a most beautiful and accomplished woman, at the front gate of whose stately mansion he used to stand, proudly pawing the earth, while his gallant rider prolonged his visit, like Washington on a similar occasion. By invitation of the Harpers, I have seen Ten Broeck, Longfellow, Leopold and Powhatan at their home. I have read of Gen. Taylor's "Old Whity" at Polo Alto and Beuna Vista, and the hoof-beats of Damon's horse that have reverberated down the centuries for more than 2,000 years, and Alexander's Thessalian horse, Huccephalus, and the war horse of the Incomparable Cid, that gained one more great battle with his dead rider upon his back; but of all the horses I have ever seen, or of which history gives any record, I would not exchange the Wild Man of Borneo for any of them. A cruel, mercenary man asked me since he was killed: "Why did you not sell him and put the money in your pocket?" I replied that I would rather he had died mine than to have sold him for $1,000. Nor was this an idiosyncrasy of mine. The Baron Kennedy and all his gallant boys put the same estimate upon my equine idol. The eloquent young attorney, W. B. Hansford, saw him the day he was fatally hurt and said he was the finest horse he ever saw. The gallant old chieftain, Baron Kennedy, and I, mingled our tears together over his bier, knowing full well we should never gaze upon his like again. If he were alive I would not exchange him for the famous Pegasus, on whose back the poets of old took their lofty aerial flights over Mount Caucasus. He was gentle and fearless, mild and courageous. No train, no automobile struck the least terror to his dauntless spirit. When permitted to try his speed, trees, fields, flocks and herds and all animate and inanimate things appeared to be wildly rushing to the rear to escape the fleet hoofs of the flying steed; and to the rider in buggy behind him, even in the still day, the rushing wind seemed like a rushing tornado! Nature with all her elements of beauty, speed, symmetry and form combined that all the world might rise up and say: "Behold a horse!" How did the fatal catastrophe happen? The Wild Man of Borneo was quietly grazing in the yard and a great herd of brood mares came wildly rushing up from the pasture and he attempted to go over a high picket fence and was emplaced upon the top and received the wound, of which he died. Could the shield of skill and the buckler of science availed against such a deadly wound he would not have died, for he was attended by one of the most skilled doctors in all the land. After lingering a few days he walked to the yard gate, looked longingly toward Franchersville and then a long, lingering look toward Crab Orchard, walked deliberately back and lay down near the house and died without a struggle. Lord Byron, the great poet, once swam a prong of the sea to get to his lady love and the poor horse with such an illustrious example before him can not be severely censured for taking his wild and fatal leap. I wish now I had not entered him in the Seraglio, but that he was now as his owner was until he was 27 years and six months old, and as his owner has been for the last 15 years! I have seen but few show horses with the same human intelligence as the noble "Borneo!" But my eyes grow dim and watery with tears. Woe, woe the leap; woe the day, That cost thy life, my gallant bay!

Butter Factory for Stanford.

Co-operative institution that will be a great relief to dairy farming. Better prices for product.

Messrs. Jones and Bancroft, representing the Chicago Building and Manufacturing Co., are canvassing our business men and farmers in regard to the establishment of a creamery in Stanford on the Elgin system of manufacturing butter, shipping cream, etc. We see no reason why such an institution should not be a good industry for this community. Other towns support enterprises of this kind and they prove a great help in keeping up the business of the town. The proposed plant will be equipped with the latest improved machinery and appliances, the separator having a capacity of separating the cream from 3,000 pounds of milk per hour. The improved machinery and the ways of conducting and operating creameries are entirely different from the old system of cream gathered creameries, where the farmers had cream cans and raised the cream at home under the setting or gravity system, losing one pound of butter to every 300 pounds of milk that can be gained by sending the same amount to the factory and having it put through the separator. The skimmed milk returned to the farmer will be sterilized, which remains sweet, thereby containing more nutrient for feeding than sour milk with all the cream left in after skinning and making butter at home.

Why the separator system makes cows pay: Simply by making more butter from the same amount of milk, which brings more per pound, as it can be ripened easily at the factory. By the separator all the cream is extracted from the milk and all the butter is obtained from the cream and the results are fully 25 per cent. greater than can be obtained by home churning. Again the separator expels from the cream all the impurities that may be in the milk, thus enabling the factory to produce fine, "gilt-edged" butter of long-keeping qualities, perfectly uniform in color, setting, flavor and grain. Elgin butter always commands a ready cash sale of from 10c to 12c more per pound than the average country butter.

A plant of this kind would put in circulation each month among our farming community several thousand dollars, creating a better cash trade among the business men of the town, build up and enhance the price of land and also enhance the price of cows.

The plan of operating the plant will be purely co-operative, no one owning but one share ($100) and nothing to be paid until the plant is completed and ready for operation. We notice a number of our business men and farmers subscribed shares of stock to the same which strongly points to a plant of this kind for Stanford in the near future. The above gentlemen have built during the past year plants at Shelbyville, Taylorsville, Bloomfield, Wilmore and other points, and at this time they are building plants at Paint Lick, Lancaster and Bowling Green. This is an enterprise our people should encourage and not let go by.

If the dries are not satisfied with the progress they are making, and this is not a sufficient Sahara for them, they might go to Southern Egypt, where it never rains, and is dry all the time.—Frankfort Journal.

SOMEBODY got another pair of our 14-30 ladies' skates a few nights ago, making two pairs of that size that have been taken from the opera house. We trust that they were carried away unintentionally and that they will be brought back at once. A hint to the wise is sufficient. Stanford Rink Co.

IN attempting to get one of the big plate glasses for Sam Robinson's store out of the box, in which it was packed and shipped, a break occurred and the glass was immediately sent back to be replaced by a new one. Mr. J. R. Powell, who has the contract for fixing the store front, tells us that the glass was not packed right and that the house from which he bought it will be the loser.

BALLARD.-Mrs. Sallie Ballard, widow of Mr. Ed. Ballard, died at her home on the Lancaster pike at 5:30 yesterday morning. She had been ill a long time and her sufferings being very great, death must have been a welcome to her. Deceased was about 60 years old and is survived by two children, Mrs. R. E. Sallee and Mr. Ed. Ballard. Mrs. Ballard was a Miss Swope and she leaves two sisters, Mesdames Lettie Broadbush and Emma Haselden, and two brothers, Messrs. W. M. Swope, of Lexington, and J. H. Swope, of Danville. They and the children have unbounded sympathy in their loss. For a long time Mrs. Ballard had been a member of the Christian church and she frequently expressed herself as being ready and willing to meet her Maker. Now that her sufferings are over, may her rest be sweet and peaceful. The funeral will occur at the late home at 12:30 Saturday afternoon, and the procession will follow the remains to Rowland where they will be placed on the train and taken to Richmond for interment.

A Narrow Escape.

G. W. Cloyd, a merchant, of Plank Mo., had a narrow escape four years ago, when he ran a Jimson bur into his thumb. He says: "The doctor wanted to amputate it but I would not consent. I bought a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve and that cured the dangerous wound." See at G. L. Penny's, Drug-gist.

A Mild Laxative For Baby's Bowels

The infant or the child should not be given salts, purgative waters or harsh pills or tablets when the bowels are constipated, and neither should any medicine be used that causes a narcotic.

It is well for mothers to remember that there is no better, gentler or more effective remedy for children's stomach and bowel troubles than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Its purity and mildness make it especially adapted to young people's use. It works gently but surely, and containing, as it does, many tonic ingredients, it not only cleans out the congested bowels, but tones the system and makes the child feel better in every way.

Among the thousands who are using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is Mrs. Spalding, of Mayfield, Ky., and she writes that she gives it to her baby regularly and that she would not be without it. She has used it herself for a long time and ought to know.

Mothers will find this an invaluable remedy for old and young in constipation, dyspepsia, liver trouble, diarrhea, colic, worms, and the many other ills that afflict the stomach and bowels. It is guaranteed to do what we claim, and by its use a home cure at very little cost is easily brought about.

Children are often troubled with skin diseases, are backward in school, lose weight and do not care to eat or play, when all that is really the matter with them is stomach trouble. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will correct. Go to your druggist to-day and buy a bottle and see how quickly the child gets well again.

It is a good thing for the whole family to use in stomach, liver and bowel complaints. A 50 cent bottle has often restored an entire family.

FREE TEST Those wishing to try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin before buying can have a free sample bottle sent to their homes by addressing the company. This offer is to prove that the remedy will do as we claim, and is only open to those who have never taken it. Send for it if you have any symptoms of stomach, liver or bowel disease. Gentlest yet most effective laxative for children, women and old folks. A guaranteed, permanent home cure. THE PUBLIC VERDICT: "No Laxative So Good and Sure as DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN." This product bears purest testimonials. No. 17, Washington, D. C.

The six and one-half million people in Greater London live in 928,098 houses. The population one hundred years ago was just one-fifth what it is now. Though the number of births was nearly double the number of deaths in 1904 the birthrate is steadily declining. The postal figures show that in 1905 there were 1,028 post-offices in London and 2,435 public telephones working. The total imports at London in 1904 amounted to $849,086,000 and the total exports $462,299,000. Some idea of London's wealth is shown by the assessed income tax value in 1904 in the administrative county: Houses representing $219,264,000, trades and professions $364,045,000, profits of companies and other interests $308,511,000, salaries corporate bodies, $115,044,000, salaries, army and navy, $103,674,000. In 1905 there were 2,993 motor cars and 1,852 motor cycles in London. Licenses to drive were granted to 8,070 people, the fee received amounting to $36,890.

Good Words For Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

People everywhere take pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Edward Phillips of Barclay, Md., writes: "I wish to tell you that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl, Catherine, who is two years old, has been taking this remedy whenever she had a cold since she was two months old. About a month ago I contracted a dreadful cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals, in deciding that the constitutionality of the Cammack County Unit Law, certainly places local option in the saddle to stay, depending only upon the continuance of public sentiment to the point of the law's strict enforcement wherever the prohibitory rule is invoked. The decision confirms all that is claimed for the law and makes it possible to make the local option system of control of the traffic almost universal throughout the State.—Somerset Journal.

"When I was at Harvard," said Dr. William F. Anderson, of New York, in concluding a brief address, "the boys had a little epigram with which they used to warn speakers not to be too prolix. Relief from Rheumatic Pains

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Roland Curry, a patrolman, of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk; at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it, my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by all druggists.
